Double trouble for Roughriders

On and off the field.
News that two Riders players were arrested broke 48 hours before team faces the Toronto Argonauts

MARCO VIGLIOTTI
marco.vigliotti@metronews.ca

The Saskatchewan Roughriders are staying mum on whether two players facing aggravated-assault charges will take the field for Saturday's home game against the Toronto Argonauts.

Defensive back Dwight Anderson and wide receiver Taj Smith each face one charge of aggravated assault stemming from an altercation at a Dewdney Avenue nightclub on Aug. 18 that left a 20-year-old man with serious injuries.

While the players are not currently suspended, general manager Brendan Taman refused to disclose whether they would be in the lineup on Saturday.

"Like every game we're going to set our roster tomorrow and will determine that over the next short period of time," he told a crush of reporters Thursday at Mosaic Stadium.

"We're still going through the process of trying to gather what went on — right now we just have to get to the facts and see where it goes."

Taman said Regina police first informed the team of the charges Wednesday evening and that the Roughriders would not conduct an internal investigation into the incident.

"I think the police are a big part of this — we have to go with what they find," he said.

"We have a football team to run, not a CSI unit."

After learning about the incident, the players have decided not to attend the particular nightclub in the future, Taman added.

With news of the arrest breaking only 48 hours before the Riders face the defending Grey Cup champion Argonauts, head coach Corey Chamblin said he's confident the team will able to block out these off-field distractions.

"I think our team morale will be pretty good," he said Thursday. "Our guys are pretty focused and they know we have a football game to play."

Smith and Anderson are scheduled to be back in court Oct. 8.

RCMP launch probe after man shot dead in fight with officer

42-year-old man killed. Regina police investigating death involving RCMP officer at central Saskatchewan home

alyssa.mcdonald@metronews.ca

An investigation is underway after an RCMP officer shot and killed a 42-year-old man in a central Saskatchewan home on Wednesday.

RCMP spokesperson Sgt. Craig Cleary stayed tight-lipped when talking with media on Thursday, stating the investigation is out of their hands.

"Regina Police Service is the one investigating this matter and by no means do we want to interfere with that investigation," said Cleary.

The RCMP asked RPS less than an hour after the death to complete an external review on the incident, in which the Mountie went into a home in Holdfast for a criminal investigation and wound up in a deadly altercation with a man inside.

"This process is in place to ensure that an independent agency is there to look into the matter," said Cleary. "And make sure that all preconceived notions or thoughts of potential coverups are eliminated."

The male Craik RCMP member entered the deceased's home at approximately 10 p.m. on Wednesday in relation to an unknown investigation. A fight allegedly ensued and ended with the Mountie firing his gun at the man, who died on scene.

"Nobody wants to be put in that situation where we have to take another person's life," said Cleary, adding that the officer was not at work on Thursday.

Clearly said officers can use lethal force if they feel their life or a member of the public's life is threatened and the "(RCMP) are trained to fire at centre mass and to stop the threat."

Regina police, who would not comment on the investigation, will send their findings to the attorney general and Ministry of Justice, who is acting as independent observer.

RCMP spokesperson Sgt. Craig Cleary speaks to media on Thursday afternoon at the RCMP F Division headquarters.

Teacher charged with luring male student on Internet

A 38-year-old Saskatoon teacher has been charged with luring a child over the Internet.

Jayson Clarke Kennard made his first appearance in court Thursday.

Kennard mostly stared at the floor during the brief appearance as a prosecutor read out conditions for his release from custody until his next court date.

He is forbidden from having contact with minors or using any device that can access the Internet.

A woman told reporters outside court that she found almost a year's worth of explicit messages sent to her son's Facebook account.

She says her son is now 16 but was taught by Kennard when he was in Grade 6.

"The main reason I agreed to have things publicized is so other kids can come forward," she said.

"I was nerve-wracked. Shaking. Throwing up. I haven't slept in two weeks. It's not something you want to see about your child."

Saskatoon Public Schools said Kennard has been removed from his teaching position at Dundonald School and told not to have any contact with students or school staff for the duration of the trial.

United Way expects to raise millions in funding drive

Community Campaign. Charitable group hopes to make further strides toward eradicating poverty, homelessness

JACOB MORGAN
jacob.morgan@metronews.ca

Decked out in colourful boas and costumes, about 350 people paraded through downtown waving signs to kick off the United Way of Saskatoon and Area's 2013 Community Campaign.

Chief Executive Officer, Sheri Benson, told Metro at the event on Thursday morning that although the mark is set high at $6.5 million, she has confidence that the volunteers will be able to pull it off.

"The community sets a lofty goal every year," said Benson. "Back in 2009 when I became a CEO, the goal was $5 million and we raised $5.8 million. The economy has been booming and I think people who can will share that."

She added that hundreds of workplaces and thousands of donors are involved in the process.

Some of the initiatives Benson said the United Way would be looking to support with this money include reducing homelessness in Saskatoon, as well as setting up a toll-free number to assist those in need to access the appropriate type of service.

"It's a three-digit telephone number and it's operating in provinces across Canada," she said. "Our goal is to get the 211 telephone line here in Saskatchewan, where people can call talk to a real person and get help navigating this system."

Rathika Sitsabaiesan, a Member of Parliament for Scarborough-Rouge River in Toronto, was in town for the launch, and she said United Way and similar programs are filling a void right across the country.

"United Way and organizations like United Way are doing a lot of the work that, I think, government agencies should be doing," said Sitsabaiesan. "Making sure that homelessness is eradicated, making sure that poverty is eradicated and making sure that there is affordable housing in this country."

Warm fall expected across Saskatchewan

Saskatchewanians can thank a high-pressure air mass for what's expected to be a warmer-than-average fall.

John Paul Cragg, a warning preparedness meteorologist with Environment Canada, said those in the Prairies will be eased into winter, as fall weather will arrive with less bite than usual.

"Here in Saskatchewan, we should see above-normal temperatures for September, October and November," Cragg said in a phone interview on Tuesday.

"We've had a nice ridge over us across the Prairies and it's allowed warm air to move up from the States and stop the cold air in the north from coming down," he said.

"It's getting colder and colder in the north, but we haven't seen that."

While temperatures in both Saskatoon and Regina are expected to be one to two degrees above average, it doesn't mean Saskatchewan is in for a warmer winter.

"The milder fall doesn't necessarily have anything to do with how cold the winter is going to be," said Cragg. "Things could change quite rapidly."

Agriculture

Good news for farmers

The warmer weather is also positive for agriculture producers in Saskatchewan.

"It means the crops that were seeded later because of the (spring) moisture will probably make it without frost, " said Norm Hall, president of the Agricultural Producers Association of Saskatchewan.

"That means better quality, better prices and more affluence for rural Saskatchewan."

Hall noted livestock farmers could also benefit from the warmer weather as higher temperatures mean winter food supplies used to feed animals will last longer.

DEA: 30 kilos of cocaine headed for Alberta town

Seven charged. Most accused believed to be members of a Mexican Mennonite community with ties to infamous Juarez drug cartel

JEREMY NOLAIS
Metro in Calgary

American drug-enforcement officers allege a southeast Alberta hamlet was the destination for a haul of cocaine being moved through a pipeline involving the Mennonite community and a notorious Mexican cartel.

The Drug Enforcement Administration (DEA) laid charges against seven people in relation to the alleged trafficking operation this week. It's believed all but one of the accused were members of a Mexican Mennonite community in the state of Chihuahua and had direct links to the Juarez drug cartel, widely considered to be one of the most brutal criminal organizations in the world.

The drug bust involved 11,000 pounds of marijuana that agents believe was to be distributed to various states in the U.S. and 30 kilograms of cocaine that DEA Assistant Special Agent in Charge Kevin Merrill said was bound for Grassy Lake, Alta., a small hamlet located about an hour east of Lethbridge.

"We had targets that we had identified through phone records that they were talking to up there," he said, adding more charges in connection with the drug bust were possible.

Merrill indicated his organization worked with Canadian authorities, but a request for comment from RCMP's federal communications office had not been returned at press time.

Mennonites are members of a church that has been around for nearly 500 years, according to a national website.

"Today, you won't recognize most Mennonites by how they dress," the posting reads. "But you will find vibrant Mennonite congregations through rural areas, small towns and large cities across Canada and throughout the world."

Southeastern Alberta in particular became a common migration point for Mennonites from Mexico and Bolivia in the 1990s. According to 2001 census data, the total Mennonite population in Alberta was 22,785 and in some smaller towns and hamlets, including Grassy Lake, the community can account for up to three quarters of the population.

Merrill said Mexican cartels tend to rely on family ties or close friends when it comes to their trafficking operations because, "It limits the number of people, if they get arrested, that will co-operate against them."

Florida. Charges possible after suicide of 12-year-old girl who was cyberbullied

A 12-year-old girl committed suicide after she was bullied online, and a sheriff said Thursday that he is investigating whether he can file charges under a new Florida cyberbullying law.

Sheriff Grady Judd said that Rebecca Ann Sedwick jumped to her death on Monday. Investigators say the girl was despondent after others had posted hate messages about her online. Sedwick was "absolutely terrorized on social media," Judd said.

The Lakeland Ledger reports that detectives found multiple social-media applications where Sedwick was constantly bullied with messages, including "Go kill yourself," and "Why are you still alive?"

He said parents of all 15 girls have co-operated with detectives and several cellphones and laptops have been confiscated. Judd said charges could be filed — including cyberstalking.

"If we can get any evidence of a criminal offence, the person or persons involved will be punished," he said.

Before her death, Sedwick had searched questions online related to suicide, including "How many over-the-counter drugs do you take to die?" and "How many Advil do you have to take to die?"

Detectives also found photos of Sedwick with razor blades lying on her arms and with her head resting on a railroad track, Judd said.

Judd said detectives are trying to investigate the social-media applications that Sedwick used, including Kik and Ask.fm, but many of the websites are based in other countries.

"If you bully somebody online and it's reported to us and we can build a credible case, we will charge you," Judd said.

Rally seeks to remind country of rape culture beyond SMU

Wider discourse. SMU got caught with chant, but does not own the problem, poet declares

ALY THOMSON
For Metro in Halifax

An organizer of a rally promoting consensual sex at Saint Mary's University in Halifax says the attitudes on campus surrounding rape and equality need to change.

The rally came after the scandal caused by a frosh event in which hundreds of students took part in a chant that glorified the rape of underage girls.

Roughly 150 people attended Thursday's rally.

Lewis Rendell, 20, said she hoped the incident would spark a wider discussion about rape culture.

Before reading an impassioned poem about a rape victim, Halifax poet laureate El Jones declared that "the problem doesn't belong to SMU."

"SMU didn't create rape culture," Jones told the crowd. "SMU got caught, but everybody else has been doing it."

The chant prompted the resignation of the president of the SMU Students' Association.

According to the university, two student organizers are facing disciplinary action and roughly 80 student leaders will undergo sensitivity training.

Rendell, a board member of the SMU Women's Centre, added that the rally was also protesting the administration's response to the scandal.

A spokesman for SMU said in an email that the school is working with the centre to strengthen their relationship. Steve Proctor said a member of the centre has agreed to sit on the President's Council.

Universities watch and take notes

James Sanford, executive director of student services at Acadia University in Wolfville, N.S., said he expects many school administrators are closely watching Saint Mary's.

Ryan Flanagan, director of student affairs at Carleton University in Ottawa, said the administration became more involved in orientation after student-leadership concerns in 2010.

"If student associations are going to run it, I think you're taking on a risk," he said. THE CANADIAN PRESS

Ex-Hutterites share stories of corruption

Tell-all book. Former colonists allege sexism, favouritism, petty wages

SHANE GIBSON
Metro in Winnipeg

From left, Darlene and her husband Titus Waldner, Glenda Maendel and Karen Waldner are four of the nine former Hutterite colony members from Manitoba and North Dakota who've written a tell-all book. SHANE GIBSON/METRO IN WINNIPEG

A group of former Hutterite colony members from Manitoba and North Dakota are peeling back the veil on the societies traditionally closed off to the modern world.

Seven years after each individually decided to escape — a move that has caused their communities and much of their families to shun them — the group of nine has published a tell-all account of their sheltered lives.

"This is actually exposing the Hutterites," explained Glenda Maendel, adding their book was written as much for those still living in colonies as it was for those on the outside.

"The mindset you had there was that everything is evil out here and you'd go to hell if you leave the colony.

"It's for people to see that there is hope and freedom out there."

Hutterites: Our Story to Freedom was released in August, and each of the former members takes a chapter to tell their personal story. The accounts describe a corrupt system of sexism, favouritism and unfair wages, in which members work for $3 to $5 a month while the colony coffers grow.

"We love the Hutterite people, but it's the system that ruins the people," said Maendel.

The book also looks at the struggles each of the nine went through after leaving their communities for a new world with nothing but the clothes on their backs.

"It took years to adjust," said another of the authors, Titus Waldner.

"Inside the colony you're not invited to express yourself as an individual.... To come out of that and now just start being open and sharing and know who you are as a person — it doesn't happen overnight."

For more information on the book or to order a copy go to thenine9.com.

Naked bike ride? First let us define 'parade'

A case of two women wanting a parade permit to ride naked through Winnipeg last year has led to a change in a city bylaw.

On Thursday, Winnipeg Police Service officials spoke in favour of amending a traffic bylaw to include bicyclists as well as pedestrians in the definition of a parade.

Patrol Sgt. Kevin Cisaroski, the police's special events co-ordinator, said the bylaw "didn't address bicyclists at all."

He said that exclusion prevented police from having the authority to issue parade permits for cyclists, meaning bikes had to continue to abide by the Highway Traffic Act, with no side-by-side riding and the required stopping at red lights and stop signs.

"Since then, the only type of escort we've been able to provide bicycle groups is a lead and tail," he said.

Members of the protection and community services committee voted in favour of the request, including chair Coun. Scott Fielding, who told Metro on Wednesday that the amendment was a "housekeeping matter."

As for the naked ride, a permit was not issued, and "it still isn't allowed," said Cisaroski. BERNICE PONTANILLA/METRO IN WINNIPEG

Toronto cop guilty of assault with a weapon

G20. Judge said the officer was trying to 'justify his blows' when he claimed only to be responding to resistance

Assault victim Adam Nobody
THE CANADIAN PRESS

The criminal conviction of a Toronto police officer for assaulting a protester during the G20 summit three years ago is being hailed as a victory for the hundreds of demonstrators who were rounded up and arrested that weekend.

Const. Babak Andalib-Goortani was convicted Thursday of assault with a weapon after a judge found he used excessive force during the arrest of protester Adam Nobody on June 26, 2010, at the legislature.

Andalib-Goortani didn't need to forcefully jab Nobody with his baton several times as his fellow officers were trying to cuff the man, Ontario Superior Court Judge Louise Botham found.

"A police officer is not entitled to use unlimited force to affect an arrest," she said.

Video of Nobody's arrest shows him on the ground with officers piled on top of him. Andalib-Goortani's explanation "that he was responding to Adam Nobody's resistance is nothing more than an after-the-fact attempt to justify his blows," said the judge. Nobody clapped as the verdict was announced. A sentencing hearing is set for Nov. 8. THE CANADIAN PRESS

Philippine government warns Muslim rebels to end standoff

The Philippine government on Thursday warned Muslim rebels who have been holding more than 100 people hostage in a southern port city to peacefully end the four-day standoff "at the soonest possible time," saying its forces are ready to demonstrate the state's resolve.

It was the toughest talk by President Benigno Aquino III's administration since Moro National Liberation Front guerrillas occupied coastal communities and took scores of residents hostage in Zamboanga city.

Presidential spokesman Edwin Lacierda said any attempts by other groups to sow trouble would be crushed, citing the army's defeat of an extremist group's attempt to set a nearby village and wharf on fire.

The most serious security crisis to hit Aquino's administration began Monday when about 200 armed Moro rebels, who have been overshadowed by a rival group in talks with the government for a new Muslim autonomy deal, clashed with government troops who had foiled their plan to march through Zamboanga city and hoist their flag at city hall.They then barged into five coastal villages and seized scores of residents to use as human shields as hundreds of elite army troops and police surrounded them. Syria agrees to Russian plan on chemical weapons

Syrian President Bashar Assad publicly agreed Thursday to a Russian plan to secure and destroy his chemical weapons, but said the proposal would work only if the U.S. halts threats.

Assad also said his government will start submitting data on its chemical weapons stockpile a month after signing the convention banning such weapons while the UN said Thursday that it received a letter from Syria stating its intention to join.

The treaty states that a nation becomes a party 30 days after such a letter is submitted. Syria had long rejected joining the Chemical Weapons Convention.

U.S. officials want a speedier accounting.

"We agreed ... in response to Russia's request and not because of American threats," Assad told Russian TV.

Biometrics. iPhone hype may benefit Canuck firm

Karl Martin was thrilled when Apple officially unveiled the fingerprint-reading technology that's built into the new iPhone 5S — even though it could be perceived as competition for his Toronto-based business.

He's hoping the hype around fingerprint scanning will create excitement around other biometrics technologies, including the Nymi, his company's bracelet that promises to read a user's heart rhythm and use it as a form of authentication that could replace online passwords, keys and other security measures.

Nymi devices, made by Toronto-based Bionym, read a user's heart rhythm for identification purposes.
COURTESY BIONYM

Bionym is currently taking pre-orders for the device, expected to be released next spring, for $79. The device takes an electrocardiogram when a user wearing it on their wrist touches it with their opposite hand. Martin, CEO of Bionym, says a cardiac rhythm is about as unique as a fingerprint, so the device could be used to confirm a person's identity. THE CANADIAN PRESS

Run the rat race from your desk

On the move. Growing number of employees are standing, walking, cycling through the day at active stations

Glued to your desk at work? Cross that off the list of excuses for not having the time to exercise.

A growing number of Americans are standing, walking and even cycling their way through the workday at treadmill desks, standup desks or other moving workstations. Others are forgoing chairs in favour of giant exercise balls to stay fit.

Walking on a treadmill while making phone calls and sorting through emails means "being productive on two fronts," said Andrew Lockerbie, senior vice-president of benefits at Brown & Brown, a global insurance consulting firm.

Lockerbie can burn 350 calories a day walking about five to six kilometres on one of two treadmill desks that his company's Indianapolis, Ind., office purchased earlier this year.

"I'm in meetings and at my desk and on the phone all day," he said. "It's great to be able to have an option at my work to get some physical activity while I'm actually doing office stuff. You feel better, you get your blood moving, you think clearly."

It's been a decade since scientific studies began to show that too much sitting can lead to obesity and increase the risk of developing diabetes, high blood pressure and heart disease. Even going to the gym three times a week doesn't offset the harm of being sedentary for hours at a time, said Dr. James Levine, an endocrinologist at the Mayo Clinic.
THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Setting the pace

- Treadmill desks designed for the workplace are normally set to move at about 1.6 to 3.2 km/h, enough to get the heart rate up but not too fast to distract from reading or talking on the phone comfortably.

THE METRO LIST

Paul Sullivan
metronews.ca

Those lazy, hazy, crazy days of summer are over, and now it's time to pay attention. So, if you're wondering what to pay attention to …

1 Charter chowder. The Parti Québécois unveils its "charter of values," banning the wearing of religious symbols on the job for the province's civil servants. No burkas or turbans or yarmulkes, please. The charter has already claimed its first victim, MP Maria Mourani, who was kicked out of the Bloc Québécois caucus for daring to disagree with her fellow separatists, calling the charter a "political miscalculation." It is that, never mind what else it is.

2 iPhone. Apple unveils its latest iPhones to the usual media frenzy. One is "cheap," just under 100 bucks in the U.S., while the other is so expensive, it induces nosebleeds. But you can lock it with your fingerprint, so you'll never have to worry about forgetting your passcode as it comes permanently attached.

3 Hockey Night in Canada, almost. The boys of summer are still out there tearing up the grass, but the boys of winter are already back at the rink getting ready for a 1,230-game season that culminates on April 13, 2014, in the final game between the Dallas Stars and the Phoenix Coyotes. And then the playoffs begin. Are you ready for some, er, a lot of hockey?

4 Harry Potter sequel — NOT. Hollywood is rocking with the news that Harry Potter author J.K. Rowling is going to write her first screenplay about the world of wizards. Too bad it's about Fantastic Beasts and Where to Find Them, which really has nothing to do with Harry Potter, "the boy who lived," presumably to spawn a sequel … someday. Rowling seems to have a perverse need to deny her millions of fans the one thing they do want. Curses! As in Avada Kedavra!

5 From Russia, with petulance. Russian President Vladimir Putin has the nerve to preach to America about being good global citizens and avoiding military action in Syria in an op-ed piece in the New York Times. His article has the unanticipated side-effect of doing what President Obama has never been able to do: Unite the fractious U.S. Congress. A Republican senator believes Ronald Reagan is turning over in his grave, while a Democratic senator said the article nearly made him vomit. No word on a sequel.

6 Ain't gonna study war no more. After flying 156 missions and helping to rescue 149 people, Prince William is retiring from his job as a U.K. military rescue chopper pilot after seven-and-a-half years. He will now shift his focus to rescuing endangered animals — he has recorded a video calling for an end to the ivory and rhino horns trade. Presumably his other hazardous duty will include getting up in the middle of the night to change the royal diapers on baby George.

Frog launches with NASA rocket

Frogs have been sautéed, baked and deep-fried. But not until the latest NASA moon launch has one ever been seen blasted by a rocket.

The likely unfortunate event occurred Sept. 6, when a frog got an unexpected front-row seat to the liftoff of NASA's lunar explorer, known as LADEE. When the rocket unleashed its 361,000 pounds of thrust, more than the spacecraft took off.

The moment was captured in an extraordinary photograph posted on NASA's website.

RE: Rape Not One Of The Three R's, says Paul Sullivan, published Sept. 12

"The tongue of the wise commends knowledge, but the mouth of the fool gushes folly." In wake of the "pro-rape chant" disgrace at SMU and UBC lately, it seems evident to me that universities have become hotbeds of foolishness, instead of the bastions of wisdom. I agree that the university leadership's reaction is one similar to the deer in headlights. They've long known that stupid behaviour such as this has been around the campus — it's only now that it gets widespread public attention outside that they act.

Synopsis

Once again the story focuses on the Lambert family — wife Renai (Rose Byrne), husband Josh (Patrick Wilson), kids Dalton and Foster (Ty Simpkins and Andrew Astor) and grandma Lorraine (Barbara Hershey). After the haunting events of the first movie they have moved in an effort to put the past behind them. Unfortunately they can't escape the ghosts who are attracted to what Josh has — life! Increasingly terrifying encounters with spirits threatens not only Josh's safety but the safety of everyone who comes into contact with him.

RICHARD CROUSE AND MARK BRESLIN

Where are the scares?

Insidious: Chapter 2.
A confusing story and clunky dialogue get in the way of the thrills and chills in James Wan's film

Richard: Mark, jumping around in time and between the realm of the living and the great beyond, this story will be confusing to anyone who hasn't seen the original. But say what you will about the storytelling, no one else makes mainstream horror films like James Wan. Maybe it's best to think of Insidious: Chapter 2 as like taking a walk through a haunted house. The exhilaration comes from the scares, not the walk. Did it make your spine tingle?

Mark: No, Richard, I was too busy trying to decipher what was going on. My spine doesn't tingle when it's exhausted. I do think Wan was ambitious in juggling all those space and time plots, and his atmospherics were first rate. But I actually might criticize the acting here — there were a lot of clunky line readings. Lin Shaye, however, as the ghostly clairvoyant, steals the picture whenever she's onscreen. And Barbara Hershey? Hottest grandma ever!

RC: Ha! There may be the odd clunky line reading, but with her delicate features and downturned mouth, Rose Byrne does shock face like no one else. I also liked Patrick Wilson. He looks like the clean-cut guy next door, but when he's inhabited by evil spirits, boy, does he get ornery! I also liked that it was a horror film that doesn't rely on gore to get a rise out of the audience. The plasma budget must have been practically zero, but what it lacks in gore it makes up for in smoke, shadows and eerie red doors.

MB: Yes, no gore; Wan has certainly moved on from Saw. But what you call shock face I might call overacting, and seeing Patrick Wilson cast against type is a bit of a mixed blessing. But in the end, it's still a story about possession and hauntings, and we might just be at the saturation point of the genre. The creaky old house doesn't help. Someday someone's going to set a film like this in an airy modernist penthouse, illustrating the horrors of light and white leather sofas.

RC: And they'll call it A Haunting at Ikea: The Mournful Tale of Billy the Wobbly Bookcase! I think I'll stick to the old school creaky house with a dark basement for ghouls to hide in.

MB: Dark basements are scary, but so are balconies on the 40th floor. I'm not sure where I'd find the ghouls more dangerous!

Fall Mus

Leather is the New Denim

For anybody who has owned the perfect leather jacket, you know what a difference it makes for your wardrobe (and life!). Once experiencing this fashion revelation, it is very easy to transition into this season's biggest trend…leather. From skirts, tops, sweaters, faux, and even just embellishment, leather is going to play the most important role in your fall wardrobe.

Leather Pieces on our List:

- Skirt – a cute fit and flare is the easiest transition piece to wear with a graphic tee to a chunky knit.
- Coated denim – like the look but scared of leather? Try updating your denim to the coated version for an edgy yet subtle look.
- Leather Leggings – real is always better than faux right? This season Michael Kors has made faux the new real to get the right look without the price.
- Leather Peplum – the feminine way to add leather for the girly girl in all of us.

Trends to Pair with Leather:

- A bomber
- A graphic tee
- A cozy knit
- Fur
- The perfect skinny

With fashion always top of mind, fall is an absolute favorite. While keeping inspired by change we see some old trends pushing through stronger than ever before. We can barely handle the anticipation of all the new goods that start to roll in the doors in early August. With the addition of a few new favorite brands we are proud to exclusively offer "Jeffrey Campbell" as well as Steve Madden's newest line "Freebird" to our list and feel this will be the most exciting season to date.

As the season progresses we find that fall footwear is trending heavily towards the "Bootie" again this year. Only breaking ground a few short years ago its presence has grown to become a staple style in this seasons footwear.

Companies such as Michael Kors, Sam Edelman, Steve Madden, Dolce Vita and The Frye company following suite in producing comfortable yet trend setting footwear we also like to throw a little twist in there from time to time with good old Chuck's. In addition to those fashion savvy brands we also offer you functionality with Hunter boots, UGGS, and Sorel's all continuing to be an amazing fit for our typical "Sasky" winters.

Jennifer Aniston stars in We're the Millers, playing now. CONTRIBUTED

Aniston on stripping, tabloids and celebrity

We're the Millers. Jen spent weeks with a trainer to get in pole-twirling shape

GABRIELA ACOSTA SILVA
scene@metronews.ca

In the new comedy We're the Millers, the Friends star, now 44, plays an aging stripper who pretends to be a mom, to help a schlub (Jason Sudakis) smuggle weed out of Mexico. The film has proven a monster hit, making the actress big again at the multiplex. Metro's papers in Mexico recently sat down with Jennifer Aniston to talk about the film.

You're in the tabloids a lot. What do you dislike most about fame?
That people see artists as gods, when we are simple humans. It seems that our life, it's part of the development of the world — that if I get married, if I am mad with somebody, if I am pregnant … that shouldn't be that important. I think people should pay more attention to other stuff, because nothing is what it seems; we are not as magnificent as you might think.

Your character in the film, Rose, doesn't leave much to the imagination.
The character is a stripper and I have to do a sensual dance. I have been in several clubs and had an amazing choreographer who taught me this beautiful dance I perfected for weeks and weeks. It wasn't easy to do it; I was quite intimidated, but in the end I think it wasn't so bad, is it?

You looked like a pro.
I went to a gym for weeks and weeks — the coach put me on a strict diet and that gives you certain confidence. The hardest part was to go up the stairs in a sexy way.

Do you approach a character like this as if she's real? Give her a backstory?
I think she is a sad striptease dancer who has built a tough appearance because she had many disappointments through her life, mainly by choosing the wrong men. I think the anger turns to sadness and that we learn it with life. So that's how I got into the character. Playing with the cliché about being mother and wife was more easier than I expected and it had more to do with the experiences during my career.

Is comedy a genre that attracts you or has it been accidental?
I love to make people laugh. It's something I really like and comedies are something very fun. I made a few dramas, but I think I tend to gravitate toward comedies because they fit me.

Finding the Canadian in Kurt

The Art of the Steal.
Jay Baruchel had a great time on set with co-star Kurt Russell

RICHARD CROUSE
scene@metronews.ca

The Art of the Steal opens in theatres next Friday. CONTRIBUTED

"You show up on set and you look over here and there's Kurt Russell and there's Terence Stamp," says Jay Baruchel of shooting his new film The Art of the Steal. "And you think, 'I have a pretty cool gig.'"

The heist film sees Kurt Russell and Matt Dillon as Crunch and Nicky Calhoun, brothers and art thieves who haven't worked together since Nicky snitched on Crunch and sent him to prison. Years later they team up to steal one of the world's rarest books, but will the job lead to more double-crossing?

Baruchel co-stars in this twisty-turny movie as Crunch's sidekick and protégé, which meant he got to spend a great deal of time with Russell.

"It's one of these things where if we didn't get along at all we would find a way to fake it but what really helped is that we were two Chatty Cathys. I would ask him every conceivable thing. Every John Carpenter story. Stuff about Tango and Cash. Stuff about Tombstone, one of my very favourite movies of all time.

"He was cool to talk about all of it so whenever cut was called Kurt and I would go outside and have a cigarette and talk. We talked about everything. We talked about politics. We talked movies, sports. He's a Canadianophile as well, so the man has some real Canadian bona fides. So when it comes time to say action, there's an energy, a connection, a shorthand because we enjoy one another's company.

"It can be faked, but it's way less fun and way more work."

Working with one of his heroes wasn't the only reason Baruchel signed on.

"Like any job I take, I look at the opportunity," he says. "I look at who I'm going to work with, what it's about and where it's going to be and would I pay money to see it. This checked every box on my criteria."

Chief among those yardsticks is a strong Canadian element. The actor is a vocal supporter of the homegrown industry who says, "We need to make more movies here that take place here and we will not hide our Canadianness."

The Art of the Steal fits the bill. It was shot in Niagara Falls, a place he calls "a very specific part of the world, equal parts gorgeous and seedy and strange and disarming. The whole thing is a back lot. You put a camera there anywhere and you have production value up your ass."

Action/Comedy

The Family

Director. Luc Besson

Stars. Robert De Niro, Michelle Pfeiffer

This fish-out-of-water story sees The Manzonis: Maggie (Michelle Pfeiffer), Belle (Diane Argon), Warren (John D'Leo) and father, hit-man-turned-stoolie Giovanni (Robert De Niro), in witness protection in Normandy. Overseen by an FBI handler (Tommy Lee Jones), they try and fit in. Trouble is, they don't blend. The Family is a Bobby D mob flick, so it isn't terrible, and co-star Michelle Pfeiffer, brings back fond memories of Married to the Mob, but the film teases us with visions of De Niro in gangster mode and lets us down with a paint-by-numbers story. 3 songs for the weekend

SOUND CHECK
Alan Cross
scene@metronews.ca

It's an all-Canadian affair today with a mix of vets and newcomers.

Reservoir / Pup

This new Toronto four-piece is being noticed by websites around the planet. This is honest, unvarnished rock 'n'roll, complete with blemishes. Acquaint yourself now.

King of Copenhagen / The Mahones

They've been touring behind their Angels & Devils album for more than a year now. Their latest video was pasted together from nothing but fan-shot footage. Well done!

Arrows of Desire / Matthew Good

Matt's new album is a back-to-basics affair, inspired in part by repeated listening to his favourite Pixes and Husker Du records. Arrows of Desire will be out Sept. 24.

Candid Kendra glad to be back On Top

Season 2. Former playboy bunny can't wait for viewers to experience her life outside of marriage and motherhood

ANISA ARSENAULT
Metro World News in NYC

You identified with her Olive Garden obsession in The Girls Next Door. You did her On Demand ab workouts. You were there every step of the way as she planned her wedding in Kendra. Kendra Wilkinson-Baskett has dominated reality television since 2005. And she's still got more to give. Kendra On Top will return for season two this weekend.

The move from the show Kendra on E! to Kendra On Top on WEtv gave Wilkinson-Baskett the chance to rebrand herself. "Our goal was to reintroduce Kendra again, in a different light," she says. "Season one was about finding a career, being a parent, being a wife — kind of reintroducing me under another network, and reminding people who I am." But season two will dive right in.

For real real

"This is the most organic show you can get."

Kendra Wilkinson-Baskett
On the new season of Kendra On Top.

"My audience understands where I'm at now; we're pretty much up to date with everything," Wilkinson-Baskett says. "This season is not about me being a parent or about me being married. It's about being a human being, the struggles of what that means, and how I get through it." According to Wilkinson-Baskett, those struggles are real. "This is the most organic show you can get," she says. "Sure, we have creative little tie-ins. But the overall story is 100 per cent my life."

Why such a strong commitment to the reality of reality TV? "I find it very therapeutic to be able to tell my story, and not hide it," she says. "We've been shooting season two of Kendra On Top for about a year now. There's a lot that goes on in a year. Everybody goes through spurts. There are some people who hide those spurts and blow up later. But I'm an open book."

What are some of those "spurts" for Kendra? As husband Hank Baskett develops his career at his gym Athletic Gaines, tensions run high. "There's an episode where you'll get a chance to see what happens when his business mixes with my business, and it ends up not being such a great thing," she says. "It ends up being a complete disaster. You'll get a chance to see how we get through it, together."

Despite their professional differences, Wilkinson-Baskett remains supportive of her hubby's career. "The gym is really the most amazing place ever," she says.

Breaking Bad spinoff will be all about Saul

Breaking Bad fans will be ecstatic to learn that there is a new chapter in the show after it ends: Saul Goodman is getting his own spinoff series, tentatively called Better Call Saul. Television's funniest, slimiest fictional lawyer, Saul Goodman is returning to AMC with a one hour show that acts as a prequel to Breaking Bad. Bob Odenkirk, also of Adult Swim fame, will reprise his role as Saul. METRO

Mike in healthier Situation now

Coming clean. Former Jersey Shore star Mike 'The Situation' Sorrentino opens up about addiction battle

Former Jersey Shore cast member Mike "The Situation" Sorrentino realized he had an addiction problem on a trip to Australia in February 2012. He ran out of a prescription to treat an injury suffered during a 2010 stint on ABC's Dancing with the Stars.

"All I had to do was get dressed for a family function and I couldn't do that," Sorrentino said Monday in an interview with The Associated Press. "The shirt was laid out, the belt, the pants, everything. The shower was on. I couldn't even get out of bed," he said. Then he thought, "If I can't do that how am I going to continue?"

There were rumours at the time that he was battling an addiction to drugs and alcohol but Sorrentino maintains that wasn't the case and says "those rumours were definitely false. I didn't mix anything."

Soon after he checked into rehab, where doctors prescribed him with a medication to treat opioid addiction. Sorrentino still takes it daily and says that, combined with counselling, is what works best for him. The 32-year-old is now a paid spokesman for Reckitt Benckiser Pharmaceuticals, Inc., the company that makes the medication he's taking. He's also helped launch a program called Reset Reality, to spread knowledge and understanding of opioid prescription painkiller addictions.

After completing rehab, Sorrentino still had one more season to film of Jersey Shore.

"A little part of me was like, 'How am I gonna get through this?' but if you watched I didn't have one drink." THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Cheating in the U.S.A.? Has Hemsworth got hands in January's cookie jar?

Rumours about Liam Hemsworth stepping out on fiancée Miley Cyrus are resurfacing after the Hunger Games star reportedly sent a rather forward text message to January Jones, according to Us Weekly. "I want to f— you," Hemsworth allegedly wrote to the Mad Men actress, with whom he was reportedly spotted making out at an Oscars after-party earlier this year. Hemsworth's rep, however, insists it's all nonsense. "The story of Liam Hemsworth and January Jones is entirely fabricated by US Weekly. There is no truth whatsoever to this tabloid fiction," the rep says in a statement.

It seems Demi wants a man with Moore years under his belt

Demi Moore is reportedly dating billionaire restaurant mogul Peter Morton, the 66-year-old father of her ex-boyfriend Harry Morton, according to Grazia. "Demi says that thanks to Peter, her toy-boy fascination could be over," a source says. "At 66, she never thought he'd be her type, but she really likes him." And apparently the same goes for her daughters. "The girls are glad Demi is dating someone older than herself for once," the source adds.

Katherine Heigl

Cinematic source says Heigl, 'can cost you time every single day of shooting'

According to several film and TV insiders, Katherine Heigl is too difficult and demanding to work with, telling the Hollywood Reporter that casting the former Grey's Anatomy actress is "not worth it." A source from her 2010 film Life As We Know It says, "She can cost you time every single day of shooting. Wardrobe issues, not getting out of the trailer, questioning the script every single day." And a TV executive says Heigl's reputation kept her out of consideration for a role in a new series. "On many levels, she would have been perfect for the role, but all of us said, 'She's not worth it,'" the exec says.

Our Royal Mint will be releasing coins to celebrate the 75th anniversary of Clark Kent's alter ego, and it got me thinking about a style of wine that also has a reputation for being super.

Italy's super Tuscans were conceived in the '70s as a liquid rebellion against the Chianti region's archaic winemaking regulations. Some winemakers went rogue by growing and then blending local and global grape varieties. While Italians initially turned their noses up at this sacrilege, they were a hit everywhere else. Soon they were commanding prices as high as Italy's best, which earned them the heroic nickname.

It isn't legally defined terminology, so any winery in Tuscan adding non-traditional grapes can claim super Tuscan status. That's made it easier to find a drinkable version that doesn't break the bank.

The 2008 Monte Antico Toscana IGT ($15.95 to $18.99) is primarily sangiovese with a small portion of merlot and cabernet sauvignon. The result is a rich wine with deep plum and black cherry core that offers terrific value. A classic with pizza, it's equally at home paired with red meats.

Allergen Free Chocolate Chip Cookies. A Cutthroat Kitchen-inspired dish

This recipe makes abut 14 cookies. Cutthroat Kitchen airs Sundays at 10 p.m. ET/PT on Food Network Canada.
COURTESY FOODNETWORK.CA

Cutthroat Kitchen hands four chefs $25,000 and an opportunity to spend the money to either help themselves or sabotage their competitors.

Ingredients are stolen, utensils destroyed and valuable time lost when these chefs compete.

With host Alton Brown, nothing is out of bounds when money changes hands and viewers see just how far one chef will go to for the winning dish.

This dish isn't from the show but gives you the chance to see if you have what it takes to make it in your own cutthroat kitchen if your all-purpose flour was stolen — or you just ran out.

Ingredients

Gluten-free flour mix
- 4 cups rice flour
- 1 1/3 cup potato starch
- 2/3 cup tapioca flour
- 4 tsp xanthan Gum

Cookies
- 3/4 cup of coconut oil
- 1 cup of cane sugar
- 1/2 cup of applesauce
- 2 tsp of vanilla extract
- 2 1/2 cups of gluten free flour mix
- 1 tsp of baking soda
- 1 tsp of baking powder
- 1 tsp of salt
- 1 cup of vegan chocolate chips

1. Preheat your oven to 375 F. Turn on your convection fan if you have one.

2. For the gluten-free flour whisk together the flours and powders evenly distributing the finer powders amongst the coarser ones. Use as needed and reserve the rest for other baking.

3. Bring the coconut oil to room temperature then mix with the sugar. Whisk in the applesauce and vanilla and set aside. In a separate bowl whisk together the flour mix, baking soda, baking powder and salt. Mix the wet and dry together. Gently fold in the chocolate chips. Drop by large spoonfuls on to a baking tray and press to flatten slightly. Bake until lightly brown and the whole house smells like cookies, 12-14 minutes. Let the cookies rest on the baking tray to cool just a bit before removing, about 2 minutes.

4. Cool completely and if you like layer with your favourite ice cream to make fun sandwiches.

Riders face Argos under adversity

CFL. Looking to rebound from Banjo Bowl loss, Roughriders face Grey Cup champion Toronto on Saturday night

marco.vigliotti@metronews.ca

In more ways than one, the Saskatchewan Roughriders (8-2) are entering uncharted waters as they prepare to face the East-leading Toronto Argonauts (6-4) Saturday night at Mosaic Stadium.

In addition to last week's humbling 25-13 loss to the Winnipeg Blue Bombers, the team found out Thursday that defensive back Dwight Anderson and wide receiver Taj Smith have been charged with aggravated assault stemming from an alleged altercation at a Regina club in mid-August.

"It's a huge test for our football team," head coach Corey Chamblin said Thursday at Mosaic Stadium. "I think we have to continue to come together as a football team and move forward."

The Roughriders practised Thursday morning at Mosaic Stadium ahead of Saturday night's home game against the East-leading Argonauts. MARCO VIGLIOTTI/METRO

After a record setting 8-1 start, the defeat at the hands of the East-worst Blue Bombers sent shockwaves through Rider Nation as Saskatchewan's usually potent offence fell prey to a defensive unit that has allowed a league-worst 308 points this season.

The Roughriders will look to regain their high-scoring prowess against an aggressive Argonauts defence that they've had success against already this season.

"If we win the line of scrimmage, I think we have a really good shot at making plays," said Roughriders slotback Geroy Simon.

This is the teams' second meeting of the 2013 CFL season, with the Roughriders taking the first matchup 39-28 in Toronto on July 11.

Kickoff for Saturday's game is 7:30 p.m.

Line drawn

"They have some playmakers on their defence, but it gives us a better chance if we can hold the line of scrimmage."

Roughriders receiver Geroy Simon, on this Saturday's clash with the Argonauts.

Angels' road trip to Toronto a sweeping success

MLB. Richards' 6 2/3 innings enough to keep Blue Jays grounded

Garrett Richards pitched into the seventh inning to win his third consecutive decision Thursday as the Los Angeles Angels defeated the Toronto Blue Jays 4-3 to complete a three-game sweep.

Kole Calhoun had two hits with a home run for the Angels (70-76), while Jose Reyes had four hits, including a homer, for the Blue Jays (67-79).

Richards (7-6) allowed three runs on nine hits and a walk while striking out four over 6 2/3 innings as the right-hander improved to 4-1 in his last five outings.

Ernesto Frieri pitched the ninth for his 33rd save despite allowing a double to Reyes and a walk to Munenori Kawasaki.

Blue Jays left-hander J.A. Happ (4-6) needed 87 pitches to go just 4 1/3 innings. He allowed six hits, two walks and four runs while striking out six.

The Blue Jays took a 3-2 lead in the third when Reyes hit his 10th homer of the season on the first pitch to tie the game. Kawasaki and Moises Sierra then doubled to put Toronto ahead.

But Calhoun tied it with one out in the fourth on his seventh homer of the season.

After one-out doubles by Aybar and Trout gave the Angels a 4-3 lead in the fifth, Neil Wagner replaced Happ. THE CANADIAN PRESS

The injury isn't as serious this time, which means the task doesn't appear as daunting for the Cowboys quarterback.

Horoscopes

♈ Aries
March 21 - April 20
One area of your life will grind to a halt and maybe even go into reverse today. You may not be happy about it but what can you do? Sometimes you just have to accept what occurs.

♉ Taurus
April 21 - May 21
Life is not and never will be a level playing field — some people are good at things that others will never master. Once you accept that, you can just get on with your life.

♊ Gemini
May 22 - June 21
You enjoy causing waves and something you say today will no doubt infuriate people who don't share your views. You need to remind them that their opinions, while valid, are not the be all and end all.

♋ Cancer
June 22 - July 23
You cannot change the world, so don't waste time trying. What you can do though is change your own way of looking at the world. If your outlook is positive, your future will be positive too.

♌ Leo
July 24 - Aug. 23
The winds of change are blowing at gale force and if you don't hold onto something, there is a chance you might get swept away. What is most stable in your life? Grasp it.

♍ Virgo
Aug. 24 - Sept. 23
There are things going on behind the scenes that will change your world in major ways but that is no reason to worry. Looking back later in the year, you will realize how wonderful they were.

♎ Libra
Sept. 24 - Oct. 23
Someone you don't get along with will make their usual fuss today and you should tell them that you've had enough of their dramatics. If they don't shut up then ship them out.

♏ Scorpio
Oct. 24 - Nov. 22
It takes courage to choose a different path when the one you are on is so familiar but there is no other choice. If you don't change now, you could be stuck with the same old routine for years to come.

♐ Sagittarius
Nov. 23 - Dec. 21
A plan you had high hopes for will have to be put on the back burner for a while. According to the planets, it needs more time to mature in your mind.

♑ Capricorn
Dec. 22 - Jan. 20
Everything that happens in life is part of the grand design. Remember that and you won't go wrong. If you want to win at the game of life, you must let go and trust the universe.

♒ Aquarius
Jan. 21 - Feb. 19
You may be sad that a friend is moving away but the space their departure leaves will be filled by someone else. Life is never static, nor are relationships. You may not like change but ultimately it is good.

♓ Pisces
Feb. 20 - March 20
You may be the sort who can bluff your way through most situations but the planets warn you have bitten off more than you can chew this time. A penalty of some kind will have to be paid before you can move on. SALLY BROMPTON
